

COVID-19 SERVICE UPDATE

At CJO we decided, in line with the government's guidelines, to move our support online and via the telephone with a limited face-to-face crisis support service for the most vulnerable and needy; families and women experiencing domestic violence and abuse, elders, children and young people. We strive to deliver the best possible outcomes until we have a clearer idea of COVID-19's impact.

Please call or text one of the following and we will respond as soon as we are able:

Family Support/Counselling 0207 2411646

As part of our emergency response to the current situation, we are prioritising keeping connected with all our service users which means ensuring that all have a working phone or lap-top and access to adequate internet provision to communicate with us, emergency services, with their schools, friends and families. We are also ensuring that we support community members have access to enough healthy food to sustain their immune systems. We are doing everything we can to keep connected to our community but obviously things have become very tough and may of course worsen.

This has meant a steep learning curve for staff and many of our clients/service users but the resilience in our organisation is such that we been in contact with all and continued regular 1 to1 domestic violence support and counselling sessions via WhatsApp and the telephone as well as preparing to run on line thinking space, women`s group, 1 to 1 home work support, family games and quiz nights.
